

HAVE YOU THOUGHT ABOUT MENTORING A YOUNG PERSON?

It's easy! By sharing just 10-11 hours a week of your time you can make a positive difference in a teenager's life. You can share the kinds of activities you already like to do, such as: sports, going on a hike, having coffee at a Starbucks, or enjoy a slice of pizza.

You can also do this while you are going to school or working. By sharing your time you have the opportunity to make a big impact on a child for the better. Just be yourself! That's all it takes!

You will provide skills training and life skills coaching to delinquent and conduct-disordered youth placed in a residential treatment facility.

Qualifications:

Valid driver license;

21 years of age or older;

Good driving record; and

No criminal record.

Schedule will vary and is flexible. Must be able to attend weekly 4 o'clock Wednesday meetings.
